Consortium for Small-scale Modeling

The Consortium for Small-scale Modeling (COSMO) was formed in October 1998. Its general goal is to develop, improve and maintain a non-hydrostatic limited-area atmospheric model, to be used both for operational and for research applications by the members of the consortium.

Participating national meteorological services

Today, the consortium, has as members these national meteorological services:

	DWD	Deutscher Wetterdienst
	MCH	MeteoSchweiz
	USAM	Ufficio Generale Spazio Aereo e Meteorologia
	HMNS	Hellenic National Meteorological Service
	IMGW	Institute of Meteorology and Water Management
	NMA	National Meteorological Administration

Applicant national meteorological services

The Russian Hydrometeorology Service is currently (2008) an applicant member

	RH-M	Federal Service for Hydrometeorology and Environmental Monitoring

Status of COSMO WEB

- Updating plans (my proposals)
 - ✓ continue updating for “annual” pages (PP & WG, STC minutes etc)
 - ✓ update the page regarding the Verification tasks (VERSUS2) → depends on implementation level of each COSMO member
 - ✓ update the Operational Setup page for each country (new namelists)
 - ✓ update COSMO Annual report page → the last report it's from 2003
 - ✓ update the Model related page (if we have something new)
 - ✓ collaborate with WG leaders to identify people involved (some people doesn't work anymore in COSMO)
 - ✓ (maybe) implement Web 2.0 technology → Theodore (next presentation)

Status of COSMO WEB

- Outstanding necessary work
 - ✓ delays for updating PP & WG pages
 - ✓ delays for updating the minutes of the meetings
- Solutions
 - ✓ a more intensive activity to collect the needed “material” for updating the COSMO Web Server
 - ✓ fix deadlines for receiving documentation papers (PP updating case). This worked in case of the COSMO News Letter No.9.
